This book, second in a trilogy of free-verse tours of the Earth and its inhabitants, testifies to the wonders of our planet and how it came to be. This celebrated children's poet and dynamic illustrator team up to give the reader a sense of the continuity of Earth--a global awareness--and how humans connect to all life. After visiting each of the major habitats and geological features of Earth, the tour ends with two more very important "habitats", the town and the school.
