This ground-breaking study of entrepreneurship in Europe is a greatly expanded and updated version, in English, of the author's thesis published in Dutch in 1996. Its far-reaching analysis focuses on "bottlenecks" and cross-border problems confronting European entrepreneurs in the areas of income tax, corporate income tax, and value-added tax.

Four countries are chosen as representative of all the tax systems existing within the EC: The Netherlands, Germany, France, and the United Kingdom.

the possibility of fiscal unity among Member States for VAT purposes. In the course of this rigorous analysis, the author identifies the domestic tax provisions that hamper the full establishment of the single market envisioned by the EC Treaty. The lasting importance of this invaluable book cannot be overestimated. For taxation professionals and scholars -- in Europe of course, but in other countries too -- it will open new vistas of understanding, thought, and policy.
