Shane McGuire and Becky Epperson have a history. They might have had much more, but the murders of two close friends killed their shot at forever before it had a chance to breathe, and Shane did what he hoped he never would. He broke Becky's heart.

Nine years after Shane left Becky in tears at her high school prom, they find their way back to Northstar, and their friends and family wonder if it's coincidence or fate that has brought them back at the same time.

Becky is tired of pretending she doesn't still love Shane, but that doesn't mean she's willing to give him a second chance. A truce is the best she can hope for. He's made too many mistakes, but they've done a lot of growing up in the intervening years, and time has dulled the pain. Shane knows that Becky is the only woman for him, and he's prepared to do whatever it takes to prove it to her.

The friendship and passion that brought them together in the first place is as irresistible as ever, but Becky is afraid Shane will do what he's always done—run when things don't go the way he wants them to. It's going to take much more than a simple apology to convince Becky to trust him again, but the things in life worth fighting for rarely come easy.

The Northstar Angels will grab you by the heart as they prove family isn't always a bond of blood in Suzie O'Connell's heartfelt contemporary romance series set in Northstar, Montana, where friendship and love are as bountiful as the fresh mountain air.
